

THE LANGLANDS

---

Update September 2020

Construction continues

Bulbs aren't the only thing growing this Spring.

It's full steam ahead for Invercargill's new, central hotel, The Langlands.

Concrete, structural steel and reinforcing have come together to form the three main buildings which will house the double height reception and house-bar area, the cafe, lane-way bar and restaurant.

Views from the corner tower promise to be spectacular with a further 4 floors to go up in the coming months.

Interior details continue to be refined and booking systems are being confirmed.

The Langlands has a projected opening date of early 2022.
