

FROM THE BOARD CHAIR & CHIEF EXECUTIVE

We are pleased to present the Invercargill Licensing Trust (Group) Annual Report for the financial year ended 31 March 2020.

AS OUR WONDERFUL CITY

has grown and developed, so has ILT. Our unique concept of community ownership sees Invercargill being the envy of many other provincial cities and your support of ILT businesses ensures this continues.

Thank you.

OUR VISION:

A vibrant Invercargill

OUR PURPOSE:

For our community

For our community – Mō tō tātou hapori

As we close out our 75th year, community remains the driving force behind all we do. One of the things we are most proud of is that our ILT family chooses to 'walk the talk' and positively contribute to the community. While we are an organisation committed to reinvesting our profits, the actions of our staff epitomise the spirit we all embrace.

Many of the accomplishments you will read in the pages of this annual report stem from a collaborative approach to achieving success. We have relished the opportunity to join forces and get creative in how we can support incredible initiatives such as the life-saving Southland Charity Hospital. Our core values reflect the essence of our organisation and form the yardstick we hold ourselves accountable to.

FAMILY

A belief that honesty is always the best policy. Being trustworthy and patient and taking personal responsibility. Caring for one another.

MANAAKITANGA

Literally 'care for a person's mana'. It is the epitome of 'hospitality', and welcoming guests as family. It is about integrity, trust, sincerity and equity.

TRUST

It's honesty, integrity, doing what you say you will do and others knowing they can rely on you to do it.

EXCELLENCE

Strive to excel in every aspect of our business and approach every challenge with a determination to succeed.

DYNAMISM

Approaching every undertaking with enthusiasm, energy and drive.

GROUP FINANCIAL PERFORMANCE

The consolidated group consists of:

- · Invercargill Licensing Trust
- · ILT Foundation
- The equity accounted value of the Invercargill Licensing Trust's investment in DB South Island Brewery Ltd.

The ILT Group achieved a surplus, after tax, of $14.358 million for the year to 31 March 2020. The Group continued to provide a high level of grants totalling $8.05 million to local community organisations.

ILT (GROUP) NET AFTER-TAX PROFIT

	2020 ($)	2019 ($)
Invercargill Licensing Trust (Parent)	9,444,000	2,951,000
Change in Value of Associate Company	(120,000)	27,000
ILT Foundation	5,034,000	5,141,000
Consolidated (Group) Surplus after Tax	14,358,000	8,119,000
Less Grants Allocated	(8,050,000)	(8,399,000)
Net Surplus (Deficit) for the year	6,308,000	(280,000)

OVERVIEW

- The Invercargill Licensing Trust recorded a much higher level of profit after taxation this year at $9.444 million. This included a one-off taxation credit for $4.434 million. The profit excluding this credit was $5.01 million.
- Value of Associated Company: The value of the Trust's investment in DB South Island Brewery Ltd decreased by $120,000 (compared to a $27,000 increase recorded last year) due primarily to the timing of profit distributions which affects the net tangible asset value included in the Group financial statements
- The ILT Foundation achieved a small decrease in profit to a total of $5.034 million (down from $5.141 million last year) due to a small decrease in sales.
- The level of grants made to the community for the year totalled $8.050 million compared to $8.399 million last year.

INVERCARGILL LICENSING TRUST FINANCIAL PERFORMANCE

The Invercargill Licensing Trust profit after taxation for the year was $9.444 million. This profit included a one-off taxation credit for $4.434 million.

Last year's profit after taxation of $2.951 million was low due to the write-off of $2.458 million of inner city building assets that were demolished to make way for the construction of the Trust's new Langlands Hotel development.

The underlying and comparable profits before taxation, excluding these one-off adjustments, were $6.7 million in 2020 and $6.0 million in 2019. The main factors contributing to this improved result were:

- Our trading businesses' combined profit results are higher than last year, despite the closure of the Homestead for 6 months of the year due to refurbishment work.
- The COVID-19 lockdown from 23 March 2020 had a negative effect on sales and profit at the end of the financial year which took the edge off what would have been a very good year for all our individual businesses.
- Our investment income was lower due to decreasing interest rates on our bank term deposit investments.
- The level of project maintenance costs was lower this year after a high cost was incurred last year that included a complete exterior upgrade and painting of the Kelvin Hotel.

FINANCIAL STRENGTH

The Trust's financial position remains very strong with a low level of term debt and total assets of $100 million. These assets include cash reserves which will be applied towards the construction of the new Langlands Hotel in the inner city of Invercargill. Building commenced in earnest in January 2020 and is expected to be completed by early 2022.

- Equity has increased by $6.3 million to a total of $88 million
- Grants of $3.026 million were allocated, slightly lower than last year's total of $3.348 million.

INCOME DISTRIBUTION

How each dollar of Invercargill Licensing Trust (Parent) Income is distributed

OPERATING SURPLUS

Operating Surplus over the last 5 years before deducting Taxation, Extraordinary Items and Grants.

INVESTING IN THE FUTURE

As The Langlands Hotel emerges from the ground in the inner city,

we also continue to reinvest in our existing portfolio to ensure our establishments exceed guest expectations.

As Invercargill's largest accommodation provider, the calibre of our enterprises is integral to our commercial success and several significant refurbishments have been completed, including Level One at the Kelvin Hotel, Balmoral Lodge, Cable Court and the Ascot Park Hotel.

The biggest transformation of the past year has been a $2m redevelopment of the Homestead Avenal, adding a dynamic new eatery to the city's repertoire.

The existing Homestead building was extended to incorporate a fantastic indoor/outdoor room which connects to the spruced-up Ave bar area, creating an inviting, flexible space.

The Homestead added its own 'smokehouse' to produce distinctive fare and the venue also boasts an unrivalled indoor play area which has proved a hit with families. If you haven't been there yet, we recommend a visit.

ILT FOUNDATION

ILT Foundation's key purpose is to distribute grants generated from its gaming machines, located within ILT venues, to benefit the city of Invercargill and its residents.

Initiated by ILT in 2006, ILT Foundation is now in its 14th year of operation. Since inception, $78 million has been redistributed across our community to a variety of non-profit organisations and charitable trusts, including health and welfare agencies, education, arts and amateur sports.

Grants returned to the community for the year ended 31 March 2020 totalled $5.024 million.

Working in partnership with various community organisations, ILT Foundation's successful scholarship programme includes New Zealand representative, arts/cultural, tertiary and trade-based grants.

ILT Foundation is focused on ensuring the greatest level of funding is returned to our community and therefore continues to operate with a prudent organisational structure.

Recognising gaming as a sensitive product, ILT Foundation is acutely aware of its social responsibility and committed to providing safe and enjoyable gaming venues, collaborating with ILT venues to ensure gambling harm is minimised.

ILT Foundation continues to be one of the highest performing gaming trusts in New Zealand given the substantial level of grants returned to the community, along with its proactive approach to gambling host responsibility.

SUPPORTING OUR COMMUNITY

Calculating the numbers certainly adds up to an impressive funding total – over $8 million in fact. But it's the wider benefits and the people it touches that matter so much more than the figure itself.

From education, health and welfare to sport, recreation and the arts, the impact of our funding reaches people across all aspects of society – exactly as it's always been intended since our inception.

And the focus was family fun during our 75th birthday celebrations when we partnered with XO Church and ILT Stadium Southland to host a free Community Carnival. We were delighted that over 20,000 people joined the party.

SOUTHLAND CHARITY HOSPITAL

CONVERTING a pub into a life-saving charity hospital to honour a quintessential southern bloke like Blair Vining just feels right.

His wife Melissa reckons it would get the nod of approval from the big fella too.

"It's this big brick building and a pub which I think he'd quite like. Blair's initial concept was 'if everyone brought a brick we could just build one'. Now it has been so generously gifted to us," she said

In February, ILT gave the Southland Charity Hospital a home by donating the Clifton Club Inn to be repurposed for the project.

The Southland Charity Hospital Trust was established in 2019 following Blair's journey navigating New Zealand's health system. After being diagnosed with bowel cancer in 2018, the Winton husband and father was told he had weeks to live, but chronic under-resourcing of the health service in the south meant he was unlikely to see a specialist before cancer took his life. With Melissa by his side, he worked tirelessly to reform the system and make access to cancer care equitable for all Kiwis.

Blair lost his own battle in October 2019 but leaves a powerful legacy which will provide free services to those in the southern community who cannot access care from the public or private health systems.

Melissa was stunned by ILT's support.

"I just burst into tears because all of a sudden it didn't feel like I was in this project on my own. To have ILT come to the party with such a generous start, it was a huge relief and comfort. It felt real and that we could actually do this,"

"We couldn't get a better starting point. It would have taken us two years to raise the equivalent to build a building so that catapulted us forward and gave us a home. We will be able to start saving lives sooner than we ever imagined."

Testament to the desperate need identified for the hospital's services, its Buy a Brick fundraising campaign has attracted donations from throughout New Zealand. Etched with heartfelt messages, the bricks will form an emotional walkway.

"When you're taking on a project way outside your comfort zone – I don't know anything about hospitals – to have the backing of your community and your country is incredibly humbling. I just know we will be helping people really quickly and honouring Blair's last wish and that helps heaps as we adjust to a world without him here," Melissa said.

"People have brought bricks from Northland for example that just say 'Kia kaha Southland'. They're sending their love from all around the country even though they'll never benefit from the hospital personally.

"There are really touching tributes from people who have lost someone so to know people will be walking up that path seeing all that love, they will know their procedure has been provided by all those people and they will take a lot of strength from that."

Southlanders are renowned for supporting those who need it.

"I've always thought Southland people were incredible but this experience of the last 18 months just takes it next level. I can't even put into words."

Even as his own health suffered, Blair's unwavering commitment as a champion for such a vital cause undoubtedly touched many hearts

"Blair felt a strong sense of people being too sick to speak up or they were frightened of the consequences if they did. He felt a sense of duty to do that for all of those people," Melissa said.

PIPING HOT IN THE CITY

"Fronting this publicly is not something I like doing but Blair did it when he was so unwell, the least I can do is get it finished for him.

"People seeing you at your worst, your most vulnerable and in your darkest moments, it's hard enough doing that when you're at your best, let alone when you're grieving the loss of your person."

Despite knowing their time with Blair was cruelly limited, the Vining family selflessly shared their hero

"He was determined that was the plan from the start whereas I wanted to hunker down and just savor every precious minute. But by contributing to something that's bigger than yourself, there's healing in that as well. Knowing the alternative is to do nothing, that doesn't sit well with me either and it's certainly not how he would want us to honour him. This is how we can show how much we loved him," Melissa said.

"He said 'you've got two weeks to be sad and then you've got to slap your leg and get building that hospital.' He didn't just give those instructions, he lived like that through being positive."

The experience has left Melissa acutely attuned to the word cancer.

"I was completely oblivious previously – I thought if people were sick, they would get the help they needed. What I soon discovered was a whole minefield. And it's never just the person themselves affected.

"People who are sharing with us their struggle with a terminal illness, their lack of assistance from the hospital, that's a very personal thing so it's a privilege that someone would trust you enough with their pain or their angst. The responsible thing to do is try and hold the Government to account but in the meantime try and ease some of that suffering.

"People who contact us are left eight months without an answer and that's eight months which could lead to their death. That in itself is a good reason to get out of bed and get this hospital built."

The next goal to tick off is raising $1 million by September 2020 so refurbishment can commence to keep the project on target to open in December 2021.

"It's community spirit and some of that famous No 8 wire attitude which will get us there."

"It's the Southland way and it will save lives."

With no Government funding, the Southland Charity Hospital will rely solely on donations, grants and community fundraising to help southerners in need. Patients of the Southland Charity Hospital will come from the Southern District Health Board zone: this covers both the Southland and Otago regions. Its workforce will be made up of medical professionals donating their time and expertise to the cause.

"Doctors and nurses have huge workloads but they all feel committed to this project and are giving up their time to make it a reality. That speaks volumes."

The captivating sound of bagpipes reverberating through the city heralded one of the most successful events on Invercargill's calendar.

THE 2020 New Zealand Pipe Band Championships saw 49 talented bands from throughout New Zealand converge on the city in March to challenge for the coveted silverware. The host region was represented by five bands. Special guest bands also ventured from Australia and the United States to take part.

ILT City of Invercargill Highland Pipe Band president Brendan Copeland hailed the event a resounding triumph.

"We had to work pretty hard to win the bid to host them here in Invercargill and we definitely proved our worth in delivering a quality event. The bands, the venue, the spectators, the great weather – it truly couldn't have gone any better," he said.

"We've got a really passionate group of people involved in our local scene and the event was definitely a reflection of their dedication. After this one, I think if we were to bid again our chances of success will have increased ten-fold because everyone had such a great experience down here.

"The RNZPBA (Royal New Zealand Pipe Bands' Association) said we've lifted the bar again which is fantastic. There was so much positive feedback."

Staged in the tranquil surrounds of the Queen's Park cricket grounds, the two-day championships attracted 1600 band members and supporters and over 4000 spectators, including 470 school children who were granted free admission.

Over 3000 people also relished the powerful performances during the street parade.

"They were people from all walks of life and that was really cool. We were able to engage with a new audience alongside our loyal followers," Brendan said.

"It was really important for us as an organisation to use this opportunity to raise the public profile of pipe bands and be part of our community."

Returning an economic benefit of $1.8 million locally, the event was also beamed internationally to a live audience of 45,000, thrusting our fine city into the spotlight globally.

"The energy band members bring with them creates a fantastic vibe. Everyone likes to win during the day but then there's an awesome comradery."

With the prestige of being the oldest pipe band in the southern hemisphere, the ILT City of Invercargill will celebrate its 125th milestone next year.

"We've got a lot of tradition to uphold and there's a huge amount of pride which comes with that," Brendan said.

"We also have a responsibility to keep bringing young people through the ranks and teach them the craft to keep our heritage strong." Given 36 of its 82 membership are under the age of 18, that's a box which already deserves an almighty tick.

"Being able to host the nationals here in Invercargill so our younger members could perform in front of mum and dad and nanna and grandad was really important to us. There's a real sense of pride which comes from playing on home turf and they got to experience that."

The achievements extended beyond the event itself with southern bands performing extremely well to clinch an array of trophies.

ILT City of Invercargill Highland Pipe Band Juvenile A won its grade for the first time ever – a division dominated by college bands for the past 18 years.

Hokonui Celtic won Grade 4A for the first time in over 40 years, while the hosts City of Invercargill defended the Grade 2 title.

Invercargill's ability to host high calibre events was an asset to be capitalised on.

"It's one of Invercargill's greatest strengths. As we adjust to a post-Covid world, events like this will become our travel and entertainment domestically and there's opportunities which come with that," Brendan said.

"We're lucky to have ILT supporting us in these endeavours and allowing us to punch above our weight as a city. We can work in partnership and achieve things which would usually be beyond the reach of cities our size."

HE WAKA TUIA

Photo: He Waka Tuia co-manager David Dudfield, curator, visual arts Ari Edgecombe, assistant curator Sam Chandler and acting co-manager Gemma Baldock.

As Invercargill's inner city embarks on a modern transformation, one space within it will be dedicated to our unique southern treasures.

HE WAKA Tuia Art + Museum, a collaboration between the Invercargill Public Art Gallery and the Southland Museum and Art Gallery, will showcase our history, art and culture.

For co-managers David Dudfield and Gemma Baldock the excitement is palpable as exhibitions become a reality, adding vibrancy to the Don Street premise.

"It really is a case of 'watch this space' because something truly special is emerging here," Gemma said.

"The 'wow factor' is what we're striving to achieve. Everything is being reconceptualized. We also hope people feel a bit of nostalgia when they visit, recognising certain pieces within this new environment. When you see something familiar in a different setting, you see it with a whole new perspective."

The pair were focused on creating an accessible and inspiring space which reflects the positive collaboration between both IPAG and SMAG.

"We can't wait to share it," Gemma said. "The main thing we're working towards is access. Not only access to the collections but access to the knowledge, history, arts, culture and the people, along with connecting it all together."

He Waka Tuia Art + Museum would inject a new energy into the city.

"With all the history being replaced around us here in the CBD, it's so important that we have this space. It's amazing to know that by us being here we're providing a community hub for people," David said.

"Celebrating our history is at the absolute heart of what we do."

Bestowed by local iwi, the moniker He Waka Tuia means 'the vehicle that carries us all' and aptly represents the journey the two organisations have undertaken.

"This has been a very collaborative process all the way through and it's been fantastic to have this opportunity to work together," David said.

The IPAG and SMAG boards had taken a proactive approach to conceive Southland's "together space", with funding support from ILT, ILT Foundation and other community funders helping to bring the vision to life.

"We thought that pooling all our resources was the most effective way to run. Why would we still be siloed when we need to achieve something now?" Gemma said.

"The community was grieving that their museum and art galleries were closed and they couldn't see the collections that they as a community own. It was incredibly motivating to make something happen.

"It was the knowing that if both the museum and art gallery redevelopments were 10 or 15 years down the track, there would be a whole generation of children that had never seen their local museum and the treasures within that. They would have to travel outside of Invercargill to experience that history, culture and art."

Selecting which artefacts would be included in the opening exhibition was a mammoth task.

"With such a small space, we've had to think really carefully about what we've picked so we've gone into real detail as to why we've selected it and why we've put it into that setting. What has developed through that process does feel special," Gemma said.

"It's our job to protect these collections for the community but we can't be protective over not sharing these treasures – they are there to be seen and enjoyed."

Exhibitions will change regularly to ensure the space continues to evolve.

"There's new information we've uncovered with some of the items as we've delved into more research which is always fascinating. And getting iwi to talk about their items, there's different layers which emerge," David said.

"There's definitely a sense of responsibility with the taonga with local iwi. We've tried to get iwi to tell iwi stories and that voice will be an integral part of this, along with being reflected in our name He Waka Tuia."

SINA'S SEED GIFTED TO THE CITY

A sculptural touchstone with an ethereal beauty, Sina's Seed has been gifted to Invercargill to commemorate 75 years of ILT.

Created by local artist Johnny Penisula, the mesmerising sculpture is designed for people to interact with and represents the evolving diversity of our city and the cultures within.

We're incredibly proud to present Sina's Seed and it will be on display at ILT Stadium Southland for the enjoyment of locals and visitors alike. It sits on a plinth custom-made by the talented crew at the Invercargill MenzShed, another rewarding collaboration.

The sculpture is carved from a single piece of green argillite from Riverton/Aparima, said to have been formed 300-400 million years ago. This material is a special taonga prized by Ngāi Tahu for its qualities in the making of all different types of adzes.

APPRECIATION

"A record-breaking year from a financial perspective was notably tainted when the Covid-19 global pandemic struck in the final weeks.

Faced with this significant challenge, we rallied across all levels of our organisation to do everything we could personally and professionally to mitigate the impact. Ultimately, like so many others in the hospitality and tourism sectors, we were forced to make some heartbreaking decisions and we extend our appreciation to all staff for their professionalism during this time.

Every member of our Board, executive, management and staff plays an integral role and we wish to record our sincere thanks for the remarkable contribution they make to both ILT and the community we serve."
